The Democratic Nomination
For Circuit Judge.

ALL THE COUNTIES IN DISTRICT.

On June 22, the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge was made by a majority of 1211 that of the County of Elliott. The majorities are as follows: Morgan 447, Carter 552, and Lawrence 553. The majorities are decisive majorities, and up to the Democrats as a make the final majority just as emphatic for the man who has won the nomination.

One of being nominated by the "certified Democracy" of the district is a high one, and it is surprising that the fight for the nomination is so hot and exciting. In Kentucky it would have been strange if the campaign had been of warm variety. But the fight, warm, and, maybe, at times bitter, was a family affair and it has been amicably settled. And we serve notice upon our enemy that they are not soon for crocodile tears over their family jars, and further, which they may entertain for their nominee, whoever he be, because we had a family of opinion, are sure to be dashed to earth. There is dissension in the ranks of the Democrats of this Judicial District. Redwine himself has set an example of acquiescing in the people as expressed by him. He and Judge Hannah, townsmen, neighbors and friends, each had done his best to win the high prize of the successful contestant. Redwine's banner trailed in defeat, but when he knew on the pennant of his opponent signal of victory was shown among the first to offer his congratulations and assure his erstwhile that he would support him.

On every side similar signs and declarations have been made. It is entirely safe to say before the active campaign all bitterness will have disappeared, and that a Democrat will elect J. B. as the successor of the man who is now filling the high office of Judge.

A person of Judge Hannah's character has a candidate of nothing but the best and the best can be spoken. Personally he is not stain and above reproach, contest so recently closed, personal as it was, but a charge was brought against that was the charge of inferiority. It was as absurd as it was notorious, and scarcely deserved a trial. It was bravely and honorably and successfully repelled, and he is best liked by those who know him best. As a lawyer he is the inferior of any in the state.

His legal learning is deep, and his experience at the bar is varied. In mind and attainments Judge Hanwell fitted for the place to which he aspires, and occupying that office he will be honest, fearless and impartial. This, we believe, is all that the meeting could expect. He who has these superior qualifications is well suited to the people for their votes. No better man could be found.

Perfectly Lovely Time."

The declaration and echo of the fortunate ones who were invited by Mrs. P. S. Bond in honor of the Brunswick Hotel today afternoon. The guests about twenty ladies, all in evening gowns, and the diversion was the ever-popular game of Five tables engaged in the contest, and the contest was long lasting.

Delicious cake and ice, very cool so warm an afternoon, and appreciated by the guests present occasion. Each score attached to a very pretty appropriate and useful when the seemed trying to crawl out of its narrow prison.

An Old Timer.

John Mills, better known as Sergeant Mills, has been visiting friends in Fort Gay—it was Cassville when the Sergeant knew it best—during the past few days. The Sergeant and "Co'oral" O'Brien drifted into this section with the detachment of the old 2nd U. S. Infantry which was stationed here in '68-'9. His time expired while the soldiers were here and the Sergeant did not re-enlist but took up his abode in Cassville. He lived there many years and was known by everybody in this section. His health failing he went to the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, but regaining his health he got a place in one of the Departments in Washington as messenger and watchman, which position he still holds. He is 77 years old, but is young looking and very vigorous. He is an expert boxer and a "single-stick" man, and with a gun with a bayonet could keep half a dozen men at bay. Mills was a soldier in the British army, saw service in India, and served in the United States army during the Civil War.

THE FOURTH.

The Eagle Will Scream at Louisa on Next Thursday.

The thousands who are expected to help us celebrate the 4th of July have a great treat in store. A Fourth of July without an oration is like a dish of Big Sandy green beans without a choice piece of Big Sandy bacon for seasoning. The good people dearly love a good speech, and on next Thursday our patriotic citizens who come to Louisa will have the opportunity for hearing one of their own people, a man who has justly achieved fame as an orator, make an address. The man is John F. Hager, of Ashland—a Big (very big) Sandian, native and to the manner born. He was born in the Sandy valley, not far from the old river itself. He has attained honors and distinction, known abroad as well as at home, and his heart is ever true to the land and the people where he was born and among whom he was reared. Mr. Hager will tell us as you like to hear a man talk. Come, and by coming honor the man who is proud to call himself a Big Sandian.

All possible preparation is being made for a splendid celebration of the Nation's Holiday in Louisa. All our people are active and enthusiastic, and neither time nor expense will be spared to make the occasion one to be remembered by all who will visit Louisa on that day. The committee having the program and arrangements in charge finds it impossible at this time to give the particulars to the public. Everything possible will be done to make the celebration attractive. Some of the features of the occasion have already been mentioned in this paper, and several others have been projected, and of these is a Balloon Ascension—a big, sure enough ascension with a Man in it! The Louisa Brass Band is practicing nightly in order to interest and enliven the crowd with good music. Louisa, with its beautiful Public Square, its beautiful, shady streets and fine residences, is now looking its prettiest, and this alone is an inviting place to spend the day, and when you combine this with all the other attractions which will be offered it surely offers much to all who desire to enjoy themselves in wholesome recreation. The Fourth of July is a Big Day in the history of the American people. Its remembrance and its celebration should be perpetuated, and all, old and young, great and small, should give time to participate in the proper observance of the day.

JAMESTOWN TRIP.

Much Interest in the Big Sandy News Trip To Jamestown, Richmond and Washington.

SEVERAL CHANGES IN THE STANDING OF THE CANDIDATES.

There are a good many dollars paid by the Big Sandy News by persons interested in the Jamestown contest and who do not cast any votes in it. These we designate as "Don't Care" votes. In order to stimulate the work for new subscribers we have decided to divide these votes amongst the three candidates having the most dollars on new subscriptions to their credit at a date to be announced later. The division of these votes will probably be 50 per cent to the one having the largest number, 30 per cent to the next and 20 to the next. Definite announcement will be made a little later. This is a double inducement to work for new subscribers.

DISTRICT A.
No. Votes.
Miss Minnie Stone, Louisa, 13,960.
Miss Kizzie See, Walbridge, 12,825.
Miss Emma Carey, Louisa, 12,365.
Mrs. Fannie Wade, Louisa, 11,780.
Miss Janet O'Brien, Louisa, 8,990.
Mrs. Nancy Preston, Louisa, 5.
Miss Ida Hulette, Louisa, 5.

DISTRICT B.
Miss Fannie Thompson, Kinner, 1850.
Miss Bertie Cooper, Cherokee, 1730.
Miss Mary Queen, Buchanan, 920.
Miss Lillie Chambers, Estep, 845.
Miss Dora Woods, Weberville, 5.

DISTRICT C.

Something All Should Know.

"Much harm has been done by calling tuberculosis a contagious disease. The statement causes confusion in the lay mind, because the popular conception of a contagious disease relates to such diseases as scarlet fever and smallpox, requiring only a limited contact to result in infection. Every one should understand that tuberculosis is different in nature from these diseases. The mental confusion due to calling it contagious often gives rise to incredulity or a totally unwarranted fear of contact with tuberculous persons, in spite of the fact that almost as soon as the significance of the tubercle bacillus was established a series of studies undertaken to determine the possibility of the spread of the disease by the breath or exhalations of persons with consumption at once showed that the tubercle bacilli are not given off into the air by the breath from the moist surfaces of the mouth and air passages, nor from healthy, unsullied surfaces of the body. The establishment of this fact is of far-reaching consequence, because it shows that neither the person nor the breath of the consumptive is a direct source of danger, even to his most constant and intimate attendants. The consumptive is a source of danger only from the discharges from the diseased tissue—chiefly the sputum—and if these discharges are destroyed contact with tuberculous patients is free of danger."

Gets Only One-Third.

Mortimer Whitehead, a national lecturer for the Grange, recently declared that farmers are paid yearly $4,000,000 for the products they sell, but the same products cost those who consume them $12,000,000,000.

If Mr. Whitehead is correct, and we are sure he is, farmers get just one-third of the value of what they sell—Exchange.

Let some Lawrence county teacher show the mistake in this calculation.

Children's Day.

The Sunday School of the M. E. Church, South, kept Children's Day very beautifully and appropriately last Sunday evening. A very large and appreciative audience testified their interest in the occasion and the children by attending the services on so warm a night.

An Artist and Her Work.

Miss Shirley Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Burns, of this city, has displayed quite remarkable talent along very beautiful and interesting lines. During the past year she attended school in Cincinnati, and it was in this school that her wonderful talent was discovered and developed. Miss Shirley has shown very beautifully that she is an artist, and her ability is manifested in her work as a decorator of china. The work done by this young girl, and which is now shown at her home with pardonable pride, is beautiful and artistic to a degree. Vases, dishes, plates, cups, saucers, etc., all of fine French china, have been so tinted and ornamented with exquisite buds and blossoms, true to nature and to life, that their intrinsic value has been, even from a mercenary point of view, greatly enhanced.

We expect to have the contest party stop over in Richmond, Va., which is a very interesting city, because of the important part played there in the history of this country. Also, on the return trip we hope to arrange to come from Norfolk to Washington City by steamship, stopping en route at Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington. Washington is the city of greatest interest to every citizen of the United States.

From Norfolk there will be side trips to Virginia Beach and Old Point Comfort, two of the most popular bathing resorts on the Atlantic coast.

REVISED SCHEDULE: — Every one who pays IN ADVANCE one year's subscription to THE NEWS will be entitled to 125 votes; two years, 250 votes; three years, 400 votes; four years, 550 votes; five years, 700 votes; six years, 875 votes; seven years, 1075; eight years, 1300; nine years, 1550; ten years, 1825. Ten years is the limit for this proportionate increase on advance subscription to a single address.

A Pretty Home Wedding.

The residence of Mr. Paul Gault, this city, was the scene of a very pretty home wedding last Tuesday morning. Those most interested in the happy event were Miss Maude Coyle, a niece of Mr. Gault, and Mr. Charles Curry, of Greenup, Ky.

At a few minutes past nine o'clock these two entered the cozy parlor and stood before the Rev. O. F. Williams, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, and as the strains of the wedding march died upon the summer air, he impressively pronounced the fateful words which made the twain man and wife. The guests, made up of a few relatives and personal friends, tendered their hearty congratulations and sincere good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Curry, and then with many a good-by and some tears, the couple set out upon a brief wedding tour.

This trip as originally projected embraced a visit to Eastern cities and, of course, the Jamestown Exposition.

But man proposes and sometimes Providence wills otherwise. Recent bereavement in the form of the death of the grandmother and an uncle of the bride had changed many plans.

Instead of the extended journey Mr. and Mrs. Curry will visit Cincinnati and her mother's home in Williamsburg, O., and then go to Central Kentucky for a brief stay, then to Beckley, W. Va., which will be their home.

Much of Mrs. Curry's girlhood time was spent in this city where she had won many friends by her charm of person and disposition. Always attractive she looked very pretty on her wedding morn. Dressed in a beautiful suit of champagne voile over champagne silk, with all the appropriate accessories of the bridal toilette, she made a very handsome picture.

Mr. Curry is a fine looking young business man, of excellent family and character. He is travelling salesman for one of Huntington's big houses, that of the Watts-Ritter Company, and enjoys the esteem and confidence of his employers and of all who know him best. He is to be congratulated upon the winning of his fair bride, and the NEWS wishes for both long life and happiness.

J. P. Gartin has formed a connection with a new piano firm at Ashland and will continue to distribute the implements of harmony (and discord) in the Big Sandy homes. The same desirable line heretofore handled by Mr. Gartin will be sold by him.

MOSE EVANS

Found Guilty of the Murder of Mary Belle Kirk.

The past two days have been taken up with the trial of Mose Evans for the killing of Mary Belle Harman about two years ago. Evans made his escape, but was captured about two months ago somewhere in Tennessee and brought back for trial. The jury in the Evans case was out until about ten o'clock Thursday night when a verdict was reached, and no recommendation to mercy was made. This will mean that the condemned man will be hanged unless the verdict is set aside. Counsel for the defense has made a motion to that effect.

The above was taken from a Williamson paper and is substantially correct except as to the name of the victim. Her name was Mary Belle Kirk and not Mary Belle Harman. As stated above Evans' crime was the killing of this poor girl, who was a native of Martin county, born on Wolf creek about twenty-two years ago. She was a very pretty girl, and had always borne an excellent character. Her father was a well-known character, familiarly known as "Claw-Hammer Joe" Kirk. Mose Evans, her slayer, was also a Martin county product, being a son of John Evans, who lived near the mouth of Wolf creek. Another Evans, Jeff by name, had some time before the murder of the Kirk girl served a sentence in a Virginia penitentiary for murder.

The murderer for which Evans will probably some day die on the scaffold was particularly shocking. It seems that he and Miss Kirk had once been sweethearts. He was exceedingly jealous, and had threatened to kill her because of some real or fancied ground for his jealousy. One day he met her not far from Wardfield, on the West Virginia side, walking with another man. A quarrel ensued, and Evans in his rage shot the girl, inflicting wounds from which she died a day or two afterwards. He claims, so it is said, that the shooting was purely accidental, but he fled the country and for about two years successfully evaded capture. The authorities gave up the hunt and the Baldwin Detective Agency took it up. He was finally tried to Tennessee and caught in a mining camp and brought back to Mingo county, and his trial and conviction followed.

It will be seen that Evans has moved for a new trial. His lawyers will have to make a mighty good showing if they get it from Judge Wilkerson, and as juries across the Tug do not fix the penalty the accused may be said to stand on slippery ground.

The NEWS learns that in her early girlhood days Miss Kirk was a pupil in a school taught by Ed. Kirk, of the gas office.

TWO DEALS

In Which Louisa Business Property Changes Hands.

Dr. T. D. Burgess, of Matewan, W. Va., has purchased from James Q. Lackey the business house and lot on Main Cross street adjoining the First National Bank. The deed was made yesterday and immediate possession given.

This is the location used for so many years by Greenville Lackey for the transaction of a general merchandising business.

Dr. Burgess will probably erect a modern business house on this property some time in the future.

Bromley Bros. have purchased the store building occupied by D. C. Spencer and will move into it some time before September 1st. The lot on which the building stands is included in the deal.

Bromley Bros. were notified a few days ago that they must vacate the building in which they are now doing business. Not finding another that suited them they purchased the Spencer building.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sullivan and Miss Lucille have gone to Ashland to attend the Savage-Poage marriage. From Ashland they expect to go to Flemingsburg for a visit to Mr. John Borders.

Dolliver Nunley, a Wayne county timberman, and Miss Alice Conley, from Lincoln county, W. Va., were married in Catlettsburg Tuesday.

CHAPTER XXVII.

And So the Light Led Me.

He had to see Sister Theresa, and Marian was walking with him to the gate. I saw her quite plainly in the light that fell from the lamp overhead. A long cloak covered her, and a fur toque capped her graceful head. My grandfather and his guide were apparently in high spirits and their laughter smote harshly upon me. It seemed to shut me out,—to lift barrier against me. The world lay there within the radius of that swaying light, and I hung aloof, hearing her voice and jealous of the very companionship and sympathy between them.

But the light led me. I remembered with bitterness that I had always followed her,—whether as Olivia, trailing in her girlish grace across the snow, or as the girl in gray, whom I had followed on that night journey at Christmas eve; and I followed now. The distrust, my shattered faith, my bitter loneliness, could not weigh against the joy of hearing that laugh of hers breaking mellowly on the night.

I paused to allow the two figures to widen the distance between us as they traversed the path that curved away toward the chapel. I could still hear their voices, and see the lantern flash and disappear. I felt an impulse to turn back, or plunge into the woodland; but I was carried on uncontrollably. The light glimmered and her voice still floated back to me. It stole through the keen winter dark like a memory of spring; and so her voice and the light led me.

Then I heard an exclamation of dismay followed by laughter, in which my grandfather joined merrily.

"Oh, never mind; we're not afraid!" she exclaimed.

I had rounded the curve in the path where I should have seen the light; but the darkness was unbroken. There was silence for a moment, in which I drew quite near to them.

Then my grandfather's voice broke out cheerily.

"Now I must go back with you! A fine person you are to guide an old man! A foolish virgin, indeed, with no oil to her lamp!"

"Please do not! Of course I'm going to see you quite to your own door! I don't intend to put my hand to the lantern and then turn back!"

"This walk isn't what it should be," said my grandfather, "we'll have to make a better one in the spring."

Then they were silent and I heard him furtively striking a match, when suddenly the lantern fell, its wires rattling as it struck the ground, and the two exclaimed with renewed merriment upon their misfortune.

"If you will allow me!" I called out, fumbling in my pocket for my own matchbox.

I have sometimes thought that there is really some sort of decent courtesy to me. An old man caught in a rough path; was none too good at best! And a girl, even though my enemy! But these were not, I fancy, the reflections that crossed my mind at the moment.

"Ah, it's Jack," exclaimed my grandfather. "Marian was showing me the way to the gate and our light went out."

"Miss Devereux," I murmured. I have, I hope, an icy tone for persons who have incurred my displeasure, and I employed it then and there with, no doubt, its fullest value.

She and my grandfather were groping in the dark for the lost lantern,

"I wanted You to Come, Squire Glenarm?"

and I, putting out my hand, touched her ungloved fingers.

"I beg your pardon," she murmured frostily.

Then I found and grasped the lantern.

"One moment," I said, "and I'll see what's the trouble."

I thought my grandfather took it, but the flame of my wax match showed her fingers clasping the wire frame. The cloak slipped away, showing her arm's soft curve, the blue and white of her bodice, the purple blur of violets; and for a second I saw her face, with a smile quivering about her lips. My grandfather was beating the ground impatiently with his stick, urging us to leave the lantern and go on.

"Let it alone," he said. "I'll go down through the chapel; there's a lantern in there somewhere."

"I'm awfully sorry," she said, "but I recently lost my best lantern!"

to the tunnel there under the wall that night, I had a purpose—a purpose—"

"Yes?" She paused and I bent forward, earnestly waiting for her words, knowing that here lay her great of fending.

"I was afraid—I was afraid that Mr. Glenarm might not come in time; that you might be dispossessed—lose the fight, and I came back with Mr. Pickering because that was the easiest and quickest way—and I thought some dreadful thing might happen here—to you—"

She turned and ran from me with the speed of the wind, the cloak fluttering out darkly about her. At the door, under the light of the lamp, I was close upon her. Her hand was on the vestibule latch.

"But how should I have known?" I cried, "when you had taunted me with my imprisonment at Glenarm; you had dared me to follow you. If you can tell me—if there is an answer to that—"

"I shall never tell you anything—more! You were so eager to think ill of me—to accuse me!"

"It was because I love you; it was my jealousy of that man, my boyhood enemy, that made me catch at any doubt! You are so beautiful—you are so much a part of the peace, the charm of all this! I had hoped for spring—for you and the spring together!"

"Oh, please—!"

Her flight had shaken the toque to an unwanted angle; her breath came quick and hard as she tugged at the latch eagerly. The light from overhead was full upon us, but I could not go with hope and belief struggling unsatisfied in my heart. I seized her hands and sought to look into her eyes.

"But you challenged me—to follow you! I want to know why you did that!"

She drew away, struggling to free herself.

"Why was it, Marian?"

"Because I wanted—"

"I wanted you to come, Squire Glenarm!"

My history of the affair at Glenarm has overruled the bounds I had set for it, and these, I submit, are not days for the desk and pen. Marian is turning over the sheets of manuscript that lie at my left elbow and demanding that I quit work for a walk abroad. My grandfather is pacing the terrace outside, planning, no doubt, those changes in the grounds that are his constant delight.

Of some of the persons concerned in this winter's tale let me say a word more. The prisoner whom Larry left behind was discharged after several days with all the honors of war, and (I may add without breach of confidence) a comfortable indemnity.

Larry has made a reputation by his book on Russia—searching study into the conditions of the Czar's empire, and having squeezed that lemon, he is now in Tibet. His father has secured from the British government a promise of immunity for Larry, so long as that amiable adventurer keeps away from Ireland. My friend's latest letters to me contain, I note, no reference to the Sod.

Bates is in California conducting a fruit ranch, and when he visited us last Christmas he bore all the marks of a gentleman whom the world uses well. Stoddard's life has known many remarkable changes in the three years that have passed, but they must wait for another day, and, perhaps, another historian. Suffice it to say that it was he who married us—Marian and me—in the little chapel by the wall, and that when he comes now and then to visit us, we renew our impression of him as a man large of body and of soul.

She paused and faced me abruptly. We were at the edge of the wood, and the school lay quite near. She caught the cloak closer about her and gave her head a little toss I remembered well, as a trick compelled by the vagaries of woman's headdress.

"I can't talk to you here, Mr. Glenarm; I had no intention of ever seeing you again; but I must say this to you—"

"Those notes of Pickering's—I shall ask Mr. Glenarm to give them to you—as a mark of esteem from me."

She stepped backward as though I had struck her.

"You risked much for them—and for him—" I went on.

"Mr. Glenarm, I have no intention of discussing that, or any other matter with you—"

"It is better so—"

"But your accusations, the things you imply, are unjust, infamous!"

The quaver in her voice shook my resolution to dash harshly with her.

"If I had not myself been a witness—" I began.

"Yes, you have the conceit of your own wisdom, I dare say."

"But that challenge to follow you, to break my pledge; my running away, only to find that Pickering was close at my heels; your visit to the tunnel in search of those notes—don't you know that those things were a blow that hurt? You had been the spirit of this woodland to me. Through all these months, from the hour I watched you paddle off into the sunset in your canoe, the thought of you made the days brighter—stealed and cheered me, and awakened ambitions that I had forgotten—abandoned—long ago. And this hideous struggle here—it seems so idle, so worse than useless now! But I'm glad I followed you—I'm glad neither fortune nor duty kept me back. And now I want you to know that Pickering shall not suffer for anything that has happened. I shall not punish him; for your sake he shall go free."

Marian—the most patient of women—is walking toward the door, eager for the sunshine, the free airs of spring, the blue vistas lakeward, and at last I am ready to go.

The End.

Frankfort, June 14.—The Court of Appeals today affirmed a life sentence given A. B. Bricker, of Boyd county, for murdering his wife. The Court says the jury was merciful in not inflicting the death penalty.

Home Circle Column.

A Column Dedicated To Tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle

One sure way to get into heaven for a day at least is to do a kind act to some one who does not like you.

The Bibles in a great many houses are so beautiful and costly that the tender folks are not permitted to open them.

Who does not like a "good morning" that comes from the heart? It makes the whole day brighter. No matter how coarse the garb of the speaker, the true hearty wish is spoken higher than the heartless smile of the most aristocratic and social acquaintance.

True politeness is the corner stone of success, and is one of the most important of human life. It consists of frankness, cordiality and gentleness toward our fellow creatures. Beautiful in its truth and simplicity, the first that youth should learn and the last that age should forget.

It is one thing to go about our life work as a sense of stern duty, and another to go about it in a way that shall make both ourselves and everybody about us happy. To be pleasant is a consummation that lies within the power of every one of us. To be great is the achievement of the few. There is nothing that sits so gracefully upon a bright woman as gentleness and pleasantness. The greatest intellect the Lord ever struck from out the eternities is devoid of charm without the gift of ability and sweetness of manner.

THE SANCTITY OF HOME.

A man has no right to enter his own door with a cloud upon his brow, and a tempest in his heart. His coming should rejoice his wife and children. A woman has no right to be always complaining about difficulties and showing discontent in a thousand ways, and keeping the atmosphere in a constant state of alarm for fear mother will shake a fuss about it. There should never be a fuss 'n' at the dinner table, or at the morning or evening meal, nor should there be that dismal silence that sometimes broods over the meal and takes away the appetite. Food taken in silent silence will not digest. The bed and the board should always be cheerful. The sleep will not be sweet when there are tears upon the pillow. We would be afraid to sold a child just before the eyes were closed in sleep. The responsibility is greater upon the parent than upon the children. If the father is loving and companionable to his boys they will be more apt to stay at home and not wander off into bad company. They would not speak of him as "the old man". They would not be waiting for him to die, so they would inherit his estate. If the mother was always gentle and kind and reasonable to her girls they would love home too well to make a runaway match or go with unprincipled young men. "Make Home Happy," should be the watch-word in every family. It is well enough to have the little prayer, "God Bless Our Home," painted or worked on canvas, overhanging the mantel, but our Creator will not do for us what we can do for ourselves.

A man without either natural or cultivated civility is the most disagreeable thing in nature outside of a burdock or a hedgehog, but a woman without the gift of gracious and pleasant manners is like the sight of a blossomless stalk in a garden meant to grow roses.

ABOUT SUCCESS.

Plenty of work, with good wages and increasing prosperity, are the certain rewards of faithfulness. Let any young man start in life with the determination to put the best he has into the discharge of every duty, and some of the best things of life will eventually become his own.

There is still "room at the top" and faithfulness is one of the essential conditions of ascent.

No man can and one succeed at last in any sphere of life without a certain degree of plentiness, in its older and more beautiful sense of habitual reverence toward nature and her laws.

This is not the teaching of the Christian religion only, but equally of all religion and experience of mankind. The elements of success are moral mainly, and absolute obedience to moral law is essential to the preservation of a clear head and sound judgment. Whoever is not obedient will sooner or later find that he has been sowing the wind only to reap a whirlwind, which will mat, if not wreck, his fortunes when he least expects.

Let every mother remember that however humble her home, however monotonous her life, if she be patient in well doing, her children will be better because she has lived over her self-sacrifice, her love, her faith and courage they will enter the promised land; that otherwise they might not have reached. And not her child can only, but all with whom she comes in contact, will be uplifted and strengthened by her purity and steadfastness. Be content to live each hour, each day, "gathering up the fragments," giving the kind word, the loving thought, the tender sympathy, doing the kindly duties that lie nearest, as a daughter of the King, as queen in the royal line of motherhood; knowing that all these things are helping to make those who come after you "better because you have lived."

In union there is strength is a saying as old as it is true. It does not pay to be isolated and solitary. It is bad for business and it is ruinous to any healthy growth of life.

Be neighborly. Don't sponge upon each other but be kindly and helpful. We cannot live upon bread alone. The brotherhood of humanity is a noble thought to cherish, and just as noble to practically live.

Kentucky's Great Progress.

According to a census report on wealth, debt and taxation in the United States in June, 1904, the total wealth of the country was $101,192,000,000, over sixty billion dollars, or nearly twice as much as in 1890.

New York, of course, takes first place with over thirteen billion dollars worth of property. Pennsylvania's wealth is placed at over eleven billion dollars, more than eight billion Ohio more than five billion, Massachusetts nearly five billion, California more than four billion, Iowa about the same, Missouri, Minnesota, Michigan, New Jersey and Indiana each have over three billion dollars worth of property, rank following the order mentioned. Wisconsin heads the list of States having between two and three billion dollars each, with a total wealth of $2,836,000,000. Kansas and Nebraska come next.

In the class of States whose property is worth less than two billion and more than one billion dollars, Kentucky ranks first, with $1,52,000,000. Maryland ranks next, then Connecticut and then Virginia, whose total wealth is placed at $1,25,000,000.

Then comes Colorado, Georgia and Tennessee, the latter with property valued at $1,164,000,000.

Kentucky's true wealth in 1904, as estimated by the census, was $1,27,000,000. In 1900 it was $1,36,000,000, an increase during the four years of $12,000,000, or $10,000,000 a year.

In 1890 the wealth of the State was placed at $1,172,000,000. The increase between 1890 and 1900 was $15,000,000, or over $1,000,000 a year. The total value in 1880 was $602,000,000 which would show an increase of $27,000,000 a year during the decade between 1880 and 1890.

The estimated true value of the real estate and improvements therein in Kentucky in 1904 was $859,000,000. Of this $781,000,000 was taxed. The assessed value of that taxed was placed at $485,000,000. The acre of the land of the State is estimated at 27,715,000 acres.

all denominations and of tous creeds met on the common ground of neighborliness and good fellowship. All agreed that the affair was a success beyond the most sanguine hopes of the originators. The reverend gentleman was completely surprised, but quickly regained his self control and with true Kentucky hospitality made all feel that their presence brought gladness to the hearts of their host and his charming wife as they moved about among the crowd bestowing kind words and friendly inquiry upon the assembled company.

There were a hundred guests, and all were bent on doing honor to their new minister and manifesting the esteem in which Rev. Murray and his good wife are held by the community in whose midst they so recently came, and so soon has won all hearts by his earnest, devoted work in his chosen vocation. His success and his youth give fair promise of great good to be accomplished in the future. We all unite in the hope that he may be spared to work long among us, and that his past achievements may be only stepping stones to higher works.

With games and music the young people passed the evening, enjoying the occasion to the fullest extent, while the older people more quietly talked; their homely matters over in other rooms and on porches and lawn. The delightful evening will long be remembered by all present.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Betsy Riffe was born March

1st, 1860, departed this life Feb. 6th, aged 46 years, 11 months and 6 days. She lived a devoted Christian from that of almost childhood.

She was a member of the Southern Methodist Church, and loved it dearly.

Her son's delight was in the interest of salvation. She leaves a husband and six children, four sons and two daughters, and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Her last words were, "Be good to Marrel and Harry and tell all my children to meet me in heaven." Sister Riffe has ceased from toil and pain in this life and while we miss her from her home and community, she is basking her soul in the sunshine of God's love. Yes we buried a bulb in a garden bed. It seemed lying there in the earth as dead. From the bulb so brown came a stalk so green. We marveled and said, "To us it doth seem the work of a God; the God of light." So we shall be raised though we may die. The bulb of the body of earth may be changed by the power of Infinite love. The soul shall awake in Glory above.

Cincinnati fire laddies had trouble controlling the flames after they had "licked up" $350,000 worth of whisky."

Anything that has "licked up" 33 cents worth of Cincinnati whisky is usually past control.

Late last night the Republican Convention adjourned after naming a good ticket, as political tickets go, and adopting a platform about which no one cares anything at all. The Democrats have a ticket without a platform, and the Republicans compromised so many issues that they have practically eliminated the platform from the campaign.—Lou. Post, Republican.

Mr. Wilson, the Republican nominee, said that he would probably rest up for two weeks and then open his campaign. It is his intention to make a thorough canvass of the eastern or mountain section of the State during the summer while the weather and roads are favorable for such work. He will speak in every county in the State and in many instances will speak in several cities or towns in counties.

The following is the ticket nominated by the Republican State Convention at Louisville:

For Governor—Augustus E. Willson, of Louisville; for Lieutenant Governor—W. H. Cox, of Mason county; for Attorney General—James Breathitt, of Christian county; for Auditor—Frank P. James, of Mercer county; for Treasurer—Capt. Ed Farley, of McCracken county; for Secretary of State—Dr. Ben L. Bruner, of Hart county; for Superintendent of Public Instruction—J. S. Cabble, of Boyd county; for Commissioner of Agriculture—N. C. Rankin, of Henry county; for Clerk of Court of Appeals—Napier Adams, of Pulaski county.

The Republicans have not got the State. They are very far from getting the State. With a negro contingent, blatant, offensive and vicious, with the negro vote transferable like a bill-of exchange through the election certificates, with the Todd element in the city and the Hunter element in the State, with the spoils hunters and the pot likers all actively at work, all vicious and vociferous, the indications are that the Republicans are preparing once more to throw away the State."—Lou. Post, Republican.

Manchester Signal: "Some of you people—brave ones—who are always wanting somebody 'roasted' and want us to stand the blunt, why not frame up an article yourself and stick your name to it? When we want to 'split out' we don't ask you to bear the burden, neither do we intend to carry yours. Be game or stop chewing the rag. If you want to go after someone or the whole bunch you can take our place for a week, but remember your name must head the column. Don't want the job, do you?"

The Court of Appeals reversed the judgment of the Clark Circuit Court in a case of Judge William M. Beckner against the Commonwealth of Kentucky in which Judge Beckner was disbarred from practice for two years for making an affidavit to be filed in an English court criticising Kentucky courts. The lower court held that the affidavit in question was "deliberately and cunningly drawn so as to support a charge of fraud and unfairness in the trial of the case herein referred to, and said the charge was known to be wholly untrue by affiant.

In reversing judgment below the court here says: "A witness is absolutely privileged from any punishment except a criminal prosecution for perjury by reason of his testimony given in court in a pending case. The principle is rested upon the broad public policy that witness should not be harassed except by prosecution for perjury because of their testimony in court."

When the Pure Food Bill became a Federal law the National Government took a long step forward. The law is doubtless susceptible of much improvement, but in its present form it is bringing results of far-reaching importance to every family in the United States. Its principal provision is that the label must tell what's what. If headache powders contain dangerous stimulants or narcotics the label must tell the nature of the ingredients. If a catarrh cure is made of cocaine the public must have a chance to learn something of the formula before buying the poison. The sure cure for consumption that drugs the victim and hastens death must not longer masquerade as a magic medicine, and the soothing syrup containing opium or morphine must be branded sothatamother may not kill her child unwittingly when trying to quiet it. These and other provisions of the Pure Food law bearing upon the drug trade move the Chicago Tribune to observe that it will now be easier for the careful physician to warn his patients against taking medicines that create a habit.

Kentuckians are peculiarly interested in Mrs. Russell Sage's gift of $25,000 to the Lincoln Farm Association, for the sum is to go toward the erection of a great building on the farm, to be used as a Lincoln museum. The contribution is a conspicuous addition to funds that are steadily growing. From all parts of the country money is being donated to the purpose. Young and old, the lame, the halt, and the blind, the rich and the poor—all are sending their gifts to establish this memorial to the great President.

It is estimated that by the end of this year $1,000,000 will have been raised for the farm. This means that, aside from the sentimental interest—which is the main interest—Kentucky is to have a national park that shall be worth visiting on its own account. While it is to be primarily Lincoln's farm—his home, where he lived and worked, and with all the marks of home—it is to be an attractive spot, where tourists may find much to see and admire. The statues to be reared, the great building to be erected, the mementoes of Lincoln to be preserved and displayed there—these will be worth while.

MAZIE.

We have just arrived from the primary. It met at the mouth of Kenton, Lyons precinct. M. A. Hay addressed the people very nicely.

Afterwards Ples Holbrook appointed M. B. Sparks and C. K. Dobkins tellers.

The count was made with Redwine and Hannah 195. The people were as civil as could be expected. One young man, Paris Segraves, shot through his own pocket into his thigh. The ball ranged towards the inner part of his thigh. The doctor was sent for and pronounced it not serious.

Crops are small in this section.

The rainfall is so great that people can hardly work their corn.

This is regular meeting time at Elizabeth Church. Several people are attending same.

W. H. May has a bad rising on his hand.

John Sparks and family were visiting relatives today at E. G. Collier's.

John W. Collier and Miss Gillian passed here today to church.

SHIPMAN & GENTRY,

LEADING MEN AND BOY OUTFITTERS,

Louisa, - Kentucky.

Stricken With Paralysis.

G. W. Farrow, the head miller for the Kentucky Jamestown Exposition Commission to thoroughly exploit the Blue Grass state at the Ter-centennial which is now on in full blast.

When the Fifth State Development Convention met last October in Winchester, Ky., it was then declared that this exposition would give Kentucky an excellent opportunity to advertise her products and resources before the people of the East and South, as well as visitors from the rest of this country and Europe.

This attack is another of a series of misfortunes which he has suffered since he came to Louisa something like a year ago. Mr. Farrow is at the residence of Mr. George Burgess, on Perry street, where he is receiving every attention.

OUR WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

The I. O. O. F. Lodge, of Wayne, will have a public installation of officers July 12. A program will be published later.

It is stated that the Columbia Oil & Gas Co. will at once begin the construction of its pipe line to convey natural gas from the West Virginia fields across the Ohio river, through Ohio to Cincinnati. This company's plans have been referred to previously, the reports including that about 250,000 acres of gas lands are controlled in West Virginia and Kentucky, but the latter properties are not to be developed for another year. Mr. A. S. White, president of the company, Cincinnati, is credited with the statement that contracts have been awarded for 20-inch diameter piping and accessories for constructing the pipe line, and that these materials are to be furnished as rapidly as needed. The company has a contract for supplying Cincinnati with gas, about 50,000,000 feet daily to be needed during the first year.

Williamson, W. Va., June 21.—Sheriff E. E. Musick, of Mingo county, this evening arrived in the city, having in charge Harrison Hatfield, who is charged with poisoning his wife last Saturday. It is said that on his way home from the Federal Court session at Charleston last week he purchased a vial of strichnine. Neighbors quote him as having said he had warned his wife to leave by 12 o'clock Saturday. At 3 that afternoon she was a corpse. It is said that the strichnine was placed in food which Mrs. Hatfield took at dinner. She gave a cat some portions from her plate and shortly afterward she became ill. The cat went into convulsions and died. Mrs. Hatfield also died in convulsions. Physicians who arrived too late to save her gave it as their opinion that she had been poisoned. The stomach of the woman was taken to Cincinnati to have a chemical analysis made. The stomach of the cat also was taken.

A few weeks ago Hatfield lost $2,800 which was forwarded to him by registered letter. On the night the letter reached the Horsepen post office the office burned and it was claimed that the letter containing the money was burned. The postal authorities made an investigation and Postmaster Trent, it is claimed, confessed that he got the money. He is now in jail. Many believe that Hatfield worried over the loss of the money until he became demented. He is about 50 years of age. He is a cousin of "Bad Anse" and the notorious "Cap" Hatfield, of feud fame.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney and Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address F. J. Cheney and Company, Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

FREE TRIP FOR 3 LADIES

To the Great Jamestown Exposition With all Expenses Paid by The News.

The BIG SANDY NEWS will pay the expenses of the three most popular ladies in Lawrence county on a week's trip to the wonderful Jamestown Exposition. The trip will be made in August, 1907, when the exposition is well under way, when the weather is good, and when summer vacation is at hand. The three ladies will go with the Editor of THE NEWS and his wife as their especial guests, and their every comfort and enjoyment will be carefully looked after. Remember, their every expense will be paid by the NEWS—broad fare, sleeper and dining car fees, hotel bills, admissions to Exposition and concession shows, street car fares, lunch bills etc., etc.,—everything from the time they leave Louisa until they return home safe and happy. Everything will be first-class. They will travel in Pullman cars, take their meals in elegant dining cars, and stop at the best hotels. It will be the trip of a lifetime!

Who may go on This Trip.

Every respectable lady in Lawrence county and part of Wayne is eligible to be our guests on this joyous outing, be she married or single. In order that there may be a fair chance for every part of the territory to be represented we have decided to divide it into districts as follows:

How the Selections Will be Made.

The ladies who will go on THE NEWS' free trip are to be chosen by the people. Everybody can vote—old patrons or new ones, rich or poor, young or old. Every dollar paid to THE NEWS on subscription, job printing or new advertising will entitle the payor to 100 votes. No payment of less than $1.00 will be entitled to any votes.

As a special recognition of new subscribers and advance subscriptions we make this allowance: Any one who pays IN ADVANCE one year's subscription to THE NEWS favoritism will be shown, no assistance will be entitled to 125 votes; two years, 250 votes; three years, 400 votes; four years, 550 votes; five years, 700 votes; six years, 900 votes; seven years, 1,100 votes; eight years, 1,250 votes; nine years, 1,500 votes; ten years, 2,000 votes. (No clubbing rates or agent's commission allowed when votes are taken.)

Payments on old subscription accounts, 100 votes for each dollar.

No person connected with the News will be allowed to take part, solicit votes or cast a ballot under any circumstances. The NEWS pledges its honor that the contest shall be fair and equal to all candidates. The Right Way.

A farmer in Illinois says he has adopted a plan of advertising in his home paper which has saved much valuable time and brought handsome returns to the money invested. He says: "When I am ready to sell my stuff I insert a little advertisement in the local paper telling what I have to sell, and, if live stock how many head of each and when they will be ready to ship, and the result has been that the buyers are right after me either personally or by mail, and naturally I always get the highest market price. If I want to buy a cow, a steer, a horse, or a dozen of each, I insert a little advertisement that costs maybe 30 or 40 cents, and instead of traveling over the country inquiring of my neighbors who have this or that for sale, the home newspaper does it for me at less expense and those who have what I want manage to let me know in some

GONE TO LIVE WITH JESUS.
Mamie, the infant child of Virgie and Nannie Diamond, son of the Rev. C. L. Diamond, departed this life June 2, 1907, age 19 months. She died of brain trouble, and was laid to rest in the Hewlett graveyard by loving, tender hands and sad, broken hearts. The Pall bearers were Reba Diamond, Georgia and Lillie Diamond; Virgie Caine and Jessie Ham.

Weep not, father, mother, Mamie is not dead, but sleeping till God will call her in the morning of bliss.
Then she will wake to sweet surprise and in our Savior's image rise.
O, 'tis sad when loved ones leave us, but in heaven God has promised to wipe all tears from our eyes. Cold and hard her pillow may be in the old church yard.

old church yard. Those sweet little baby hands, those beautiful baby hands. Father, mother, prepare to meet little Mamie where you can press those beautiful baby hands again to your hearts; where you will never say good bye, but with loved ones live in the city of our God forever.

If You Are Sick

It is because some of the organs of the body are not doing their work well. There is a lack of that nervous energy that gives them motion. Consequently you are weak, worn-out, nervous, irritable, cannot sleep; have headache, indigestion, etc. because there is not sufficient nerve force to keep the organs active and allow them to perform their natural functions. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores health because it restores this nervous energy.

MADGE.

Several young folks of this place attended the ice cream festival at Little Blaine Saturday night.

John Bartley passed through here Monday.

Miss Ivory Roberts, of Smoky Valley, visited her cousin, Miss Ruby Adkins, of Twin Branch, Saturday.

Ira Short passed through here Sunday evening.

John Nelson was calling on his sister, Mrs. S. F. Roberts, of Little Blaine, Sunday.

Mrs. Martin Blankenship and children, Esta and Eskel, of Deephole, spent Saturday with Mrs. M. Nelson.

Miss Emma and Ida Berry visited Mrs. M. H. Johns Sunday.

Fred Robeys was calling on his cousin, Hubert Adkins, Sunday.

Mrs. John Berry and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Jeff Lowe.

Bascom Hale, of Louisa, attended Sunday School here Sunday.

John Nelson made a business trip to Louisville Friday.

Millard Bradley attended Sunday School at Dry Ridge Sunday.

Miss Georgia Hutchison, who has been sick for some time, is improving.

Miss Cora Berry visited Miss Dora Johns Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Bradley, who has been sick, is some better, and is hoped will be out again in a few days.

Bascom Hale and family visited relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. M. Nelson spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. Watson, at Busseyville, who is in bad health.

Miss May Roberts, of Deephole, was here a few days ago.

Will and Drew Haws left for Mahan Monday.

Mrs. Cathie McDowell, who is visiting her mother at this place, was visiting relatives at Little Blaine last week.

Nobody's Darling. (?)

O S I E.

Mrs. Jake Crabtree was buried Sunday at the old Adams graveyard. Funeral services were conducted by Revs. Hicks and Berry. The deceased was a daughter of John Adams, and a good woman.

Sunday School at Midway is progressing nicely with increasing interest.

We are glad to note that the conduct of the young men attending is commendable.

Will Workman, son of Chilton, is very low with typhoid fever.

Miss Carrie Jordan is also very sick.

Our convention was a very noisy affair and ended in a row, but no one hurt.

Our farmers are away behind with their work, but the past few warm days have greatly improved the growing crops.

The Red Men have a fine lodge at this place. They have a hall over Adams' store.

Sam Large will have his examining trial on the 25th for shooting Enn Wright.

Milt McKinster, wife and baby, of Charley, are visiting Esq. Hughes.

Silas Jobe having resigned, Frank Bradley is our new constable. Frank will make a good official.

A number of boys came down from Mahan to vote.

E. W. Jobe and wife, of Catt, were calling on relatives here recently.

Will Hall and Thos. Derefield, two nice young men of Madge, were calling on the fair sex at this place last Sunday.

B. F. Carter, one of our good citizens, was at your place last week on business.

J. B. Derefield is farming very extensively this season.

Jas. Hughes and Thos. Murphy, of Morgan, were calling on T. S. Jobe Saturday.

ULYSSES.

On June 22 at the home of his son, Robert Miller, D. C. Miller, better known as Uncle Crawford, departed this life. He had been confined to his room for about a week. All was done for him that could be done. His health had been failing for some time. The deceased was near 70 years old.

Barber services were attended to Sunday by Rev. Charlie Pennington, of Lomansville, and Rev. J. F. Borders, of this place. His wife died nine years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams, of Borders Chapel, are the happy recipients of a fine large boy, who made his advent one day last week.

The measles are still here, rendering the lives of the little folks very unpleasant.

On last Sunday morning death entered the home of John Webb and took the little infant whose mother died about three months ago.

Mrs. Julina Brown, who has been in very bad health for some time, is able to be out again.

Grandma Beasley's health is still unimproved.

A large crowd attended Uncle Crawford Miller's burial Sunday. He is survived by four children, three of whom were present.

Brid Beasley's baby is very sick.

Nanthom

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Martin county has remodeled her court house and has a new jail and judge's residence about completed. The little town of Linz is improving. A newspaper is to be started there in a short time.

Several counties in Eastern Kentucky will be developed by a new electric line which is proposed to be constructed by men who held a meeting at Olympian Springs on Saturday. Sharpsburg, West Liberty and other towns will be reached by the road which will be about sixty-five miles long.

Grayson, Ky., June 25—David Peix, who had his throat cut while returning from the election at this place, Saturday, died today at his home at Hopewell. Marshall Rift, who was cut in a different row the same day, is some better, but is in a dangerous condition.

So widely has Huntington been heralded all over the country as the city of suicides by newspaper correspondents, who claimed for a few extra dollars, that it has become a matter of national knowledge. Recently a well known young business man of that city, whose parents live near Chicago, received a letter from his mother, appealing to him in pathetic terms to not become a member of the "Suicide Club," there, into which a candidate was hardly initiated before they had to draw straws with a fellow member to see who should first be the one to shuffle off the mortal coil.—Huntington P.

Portsmouth, O., June 20.—The refusal of William Schaefer, son of a Portsmouth saloonkeeper, to sit beside Rhetta Haley, a negress, at the High School commencement at the Grand opera house tonight delayed the exercises nearly an hour and created a sensation. Schaefer was born in the South and had scruples against mingling with any member of the negro race. To make the situation worse, he had been assigned a place on the stage beside the Haley girl. The members of the graduating class had had a hot argument over the matter, but Superintendent Hudson refused to change the seating arrangement. The girl remained on the stage while young Schaefer seated himself in the audience. His diploma will be mailed to him.

Ashland, Ky., June 21.—With his head crushed in by two terrible blows delivered with a heavy iron bolt, a man supposed to be Harry Mustain, of Covington, Ky., was found late last night in a coal car at Russell. He wore new clothes throughout from which his murderers had removed even the tags. His pockets were turned wrongside out, showing that robbery was the motive of the crime. The body was brought to Russell. Death had occurred about ten hours previous to being found. A picture of Mustain and a beautiful girl was found near the body and on the back was written "From Harry to Maude." The picture had been taken in Richmond, Va. The girl apparently is about seventeen years old. Three men have been arrested charged with being implicated in the murder.

BUSSEYVILLE.

Last Sunday night we were visited by the heaviest storm in years past, doing greatest damage yet.

Our farmers are so far behind with their work that it looks as if acres and acres of corn would be lost for want of help sufficient to cultivate it. But few, if any, are as yet out of the first weeds, but the people are hustling for all there is in it.

R. H. Dulaney, one of our former citizens but now of Princess, Ky., was with us last Saturday and Sunday.

Carl Bussey, Misses Pearl and Oval Holt, and Miss Sue Pigg attended the funeral of Mr. Escomb Borders at the mouth of Georges Creek last Saturday.

Misses Susan and Sadie Crank, of Yatesville, were guests of Miss Sue Pigg last Sunday.

Clyde Carter celebrated his 16th birthday last Tuesday by having several friends take dinner with him.

Roy Roberts, who lately went West to "grow up with the country," writes us from Kalama, Wash., that he will take up his abode there with the few Lawrence county people who are there.

The ice cream supper at Evergreen last Saturday night was a rousing success, net proceeds $29.60. Everyone had plenty to eat, and a splendid time in general; and financially the church and Sunday School are greatly strengthened.

Rev. Yoke will fill the pulpit at Evergreen church next Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Buckskin Bess.

FALLSBURG.

There will be a pie social here Saturday night, June 29th. Everybody invited.

Mrs. Alice Dean, of Zelena, was here Thursday.

Frank Cooksey, we are sorry to say, is no better.

Bertha Stewart, of Cadmus, passed through here one day last week, en route to visit her sister at Ashland.

Mrs. Mary French and little son, of Vassie, spent Thursday with Mrs. J. W. Austin.

Basco Rice, of Catlettsburg, was here Saturday.

Mrs. Ella Mason, of Louisa, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives here.
